HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Richard M. Charlton '65

Chairman Emeritus, NEPC, LLC

Richard “Dick” Charlton has devoted much of his life as a leader to the financial industry. Because of his trademark forward-thinking and innovation, he has received national honors; and through his philanthropic giving to University of Detroit Mercy, he is ensuring that more people will use those same attributes to make the field more ethical and inclusive in the future.

Mr. Charlton is a 1965 graduate of the University of Detroit’s College of Engineering & Science and earned an MBA from Wayne State University. In 1986, after obtaining experience at Michigan Bell, AT&T and Merrill Lynch Capital Markets, he founded New England Pension Consultants. Today NEPC, as it is now known, is one of the largest and most well-known consulting firms in the industry; Charlton continues to serve as its Chairman Emeritus. He is in demand across the country as a speaker and has earned many honors for the ethical leadership he demonstrates in the field.

Early in his career, Mr. Charlton believed it was important that the people in management positions at the companies he worked for should be representative of the community they served. He worked to achieve that goal, which led to a lifetime focus on creating opportunities for women and minorities.

In 2019, Mr. Charlton established the Charlton Center for Ethical Investing with a $3-million gift to the College of Business Administration. It is the largest-ever gift to the University from a living alumnus. The Center, one of several centers of excellence at the University, recruits minority students into the financial markets field by providing scholarships and partnerships with institutional investment companies. The Center also hosts a speaker series of prominent investment experts and provides programmatic support for finance students to participate in investment competitions and visit financial industry leaders. The University and Mr. Charlton expect the Center to make a direct and measurable impact on the recruitment of minority students into the financial service industries for many years.

For these reasons and so many more, University of Detroit Mercy is proud to bestow Richard M. Charlton with the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The custom of wearing academic gowns, caps and hoods dates back to about the 12th Century and probably had its inception in France, where the wearing of the cap and gown marked the formal admission of the "Licentiate" to the body of Masters. The cold buildings of medieval times, in which the masters were obliged to teach, required caps and hoods, which naturally were patterned after the prevailing dress of the times. Since a large number of the scholars were clerics, the robes resembled the monks' dress. The hoods were fashioned after the monks' cowl and were attached to the gown so that they might be drawn over the head. Later when the hood was displaced by the skull cap as a head covering, it was made separately from the gown. The skull cap evolved into a pointed cap which is evidenced today in the mortar board with its tassel.

With such a development, it is natural that there would be a great variety of styles and usage. In order to have uniformity, an Intercollegiate Code for Academic Costumes has been adopted by practically all of the leading institutions of learning, with the result that today the gown and hoods of this country are a badge of learning symbolic of the degree attained.

Gowns

There are three types of gowns: the Bachelor's, Master's and Doctor's. The Bachelor's gown is usually worn with a closed front and has long pointed sleeves. The Master's gown, which is worn open, has a distinct oblong sleeve with an arc cut in the front bottom to allow arms to protrude through a slit at the elbow. The Doctor's gown is also an open front garment, but the sleeves are round bell-shaped and the length of the arm. Only the Doctor's gown is trimmed with wide, black velvet panels or facings down the front with three velvet bars on each sleeve. The velvet trimming may be either black or the color of the degree. Doctor's gowns are traditionally black, but some universities have adopted their own color for these gowns.

Hoods

While the types of gowns that evolved are considered to be an improvement on other styles, it is in the hood that the American genius is personified. Simple, yet beautiful, each degree, Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's, is represented by a distinct shape or form. The Bachelor's hood is the smallest of the three at three feet long, with the velvet edging narrower and less exposed. The Master's hood is three and a half feet long and the velvet edging is somewhat wider than that of the Bachelor's, and more of the lining can be seen. The Doctor's hood is four feet long and is easily recognized by the width of the velvet edging, the wide panels at either side and the full exposure of the lining.

The lining of the hood with either a single university color or with several stripes or chevrons represents the colors of the institution conferring the degree. University of Detroit Mercy's colors are red, white and blue. The color of the velvet trimmings indicates the academic area in which the degree was received. Those colors by area are listed to the right. The black gowns trimmed with multi-colored velvet, worn by some members of the Dental Faculty, indicate membership in the American College of Dentists.

Caps

Academic caps have varied widely throughout history. The most popular style in the United States is the black square mortarboard. Caps have black or colored tassels fastened to the top center point of the mortarboard. The color of the tassel represents the color of the conferred degree. Gold tassels are frequently worn for doctoral degrees. There is no general rule for the position of the tassel on the mortarboard. However, numerous institutions have adopted the practice of shifting the tassel from the right side to the left as the degrees are awarded.

ACADEMIC PROCESSION & MACE

The order of the Academic Procession is governed by academic protocol. College and School order of march is determined by their founding. Leading the Procession is the grand marshal. The grand marshal is the master/mistress of ceremonies and mace-bearer.

The mace is ceremonial and dates back to 16th-Century England, where it was used as a formidable weapon to protect high-ranking civil, educational and religious officials and royalty. Today the mace has become a symbol of authority and is carried by a distinguished member of the academic community.

Attached to the top of the mace is a bronze University crest. Circumscribed around the consolidated institutions' crests is the wording, "University of Detroit Mercy." The left side of the inner circle portrays two wolves at a pot, symbolizing the generosity of the Loyola family (Ignatius Loyola was the founder of the Society of Jesus). After all the family and the workers were fed, even the wild animals had the pot to lick.

The motto of the Jesuits, "Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam" (For the Greater Glory of God), is located above the wolves and the pot. The date 1877 refers to the founding of University of Detroit by the Jesuits.

On the inner circle, right side, is a silver cross which is the symbol of the Religious Sisters of Mercy, who founded Mercy College of Detroit in 1941. The three canettes are taken from the coat of arms of the Archdiocese of Detroit, symbolizing the Archdiocese and the city. The open book is the traditional symbol for a college. Upon the open pages is inscribed Mercy College's motto, "Maria, Sedes Sapientiae" (Mary, Seat of Wisdom).

The shaft of the mace is made of mahogany with brass accents.

UNIVERSITY OF DETROIT MERCY

Foundation

The University mission evolved from the educational traditions of its sponsors, the Sisters of Mercy and the Society of Jesus. These Catholic traditions emphasize concern for the dignity of the person and for the common good of the world community. The Society of Jesus (Jesuits) founded the University of Detroit in 1877. The Sisters of Mercy, Province of Detroit, founded Mercy College of Detroit in 1941. Together, these religious congregations created a partnership in higher education to establish University of Detroit Mercy in 1990. Each religious congregation brings its spirit to the mission of the University. This spirit includes commitment to quality education, the service of faith, and promotion of justice and compassionate service to persons in need.

Mission

University of Detroit Mercy, a Catholic university in the Jesuit and Mercy traditions, exists to provide excellent student-centered undergraduate and graduate education in an urban context. A Detroit Mercy education seeks to integrate the intellectual, spiritual, ethical and social development of students.

Detroit Mercy Crest

Detroit Mercy's crest includes design elements representing both the Jesuit and Mercy traditions.

The left side of the crest portrays two wolves at a pot, symbolizing the generosity of the Loyola family (Ignatius Loyola was the founder of the Society of Jesus). After all the family and the workers were fed, even the wild animals had the pot to lick. The motto of the Jesuits, "Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam" (For the Greater Glory of God), is located above the wolves and pot. The date 1877 refers to the founding of the University of Detroit by the Jesuits.

On the right side of the crest is a silver cross, which is the symbol of the Religious Sisters of Mercy, who founded Mercy College of Detroit in 1941. The three canettes are taken from the coat of arms of the Archdiocese of Detroit, symbolizing the Archdiocese and the city. The open book is the traditional symbol for a college. Upon the open pages is inscribed Mercy College's motto: "Maria, Sedes Sapientiae" (Mary, Seat of Wisdom).

The visual elements are contained by a thin black rule. "University of Detroit Mercy" is placed in the circle and surrounding the visual elements.
